The Malaysian Oleochemical Manufacturers Group (MOMG) was formed in January 1984 to represent the interest of the oleochemical producers in Malaysia. It consists of 11 members all located in Peninsular Malaysia, who are involved in the production of basic oleochemicals namely fatty acids, methyl esters, fatty alcohols and glycerine. The industry comprises manufacturers made up of both local and several joint-venture companies with multinationals. The total investment of the oleochemical industry estimated to be RM 2.5 billion.

The Group is affiliated to ASEAN Oleochemical Manufacturers Group (AOMG), which represents the oleochemical industry players in ASEAN. MOMG is an industry group within the Chemical Industries Council of Malaysia (CICM).

MOMG members are also committed to conduct its business in a socially responsible manner that is safe to various parties that they deal with, i.e. through the Responsible Care, a global initiative representing the chemical industry's commitment to continuous improvement of all aspects of safety, health and environment protection of their operations.

OBJECTIVIES:

1. To promote and foster the interests of the Malaysian oleochemical industry,
2. To liaise and co-operate with the Government of Malaysia on matters relating to oleochemicals, the development of the industry and the export of oleochemicals.
3. To represent the Malaysian oleochemical industry wherever appropriate in accordance with item 1.
4. To co-operate and pursue dialogue with any Society or Association having objectives altogether or in part similar to the MOMG and to procure from and to communicate to any such information as may be likely to forward the objectives of the oleochemical industry of Malaysia.
5. To collect, obtain publish and disseminate information relating to the industry and trade and all matters connected therewith as may be of service to the members.
