Moxa is dedicated to a clear and consistent comprehensive strategy that includes commitments to customers, employees, distributors/suppliers, and society.

Automation has kept manufacturers competitive in a global marketplace, but it can be difficult to achieve reliable communication amongst the specialised devices and protocols. With the help of Moxa products, manufacturers all over the world have been able to connect legacy equipment to modern control systems, monitor harsh environmental conditions at production facilities in real-time, and seamlessly convert between proprietary and open device protocols.

Moxa is dedicated to helping create and maintain a safe and clean environment.
