

Briefing on Skim Peningkatan Produktiviti Enterprise (LEAN): Prerequisite for Industry 4.0

Thursday, February 27, 2020
Hilton Petaling Jaya

Malaysia has a strong manufacturing base which has been the fastest growing sector of the economy over the past. However, to remain competitive, manufacturers would need to embrace smart production by including Industry 4.0 elements (focuses heavily on interconnectivity, automation, machine learning, and real-time data) in their operations. As such, the fundamental principles of LEAN such as reducing waste in the form of machine breakdowns or non-value-adding activities will remain relevant as a prerequisite to Industry 4.0.

Aligned with the Malaysia Productivity Blueprint, Malaysia Productivity Corporation (MPC) is undertaking Skim Peningkatan Produktiviti Enterprise (SPPE) programme for SMEs to foster effective mindsets and practices of effective productivity and innovation management systems among competitive enterprises. Being the largest manufacturing association in Malaysia, FMM has been tasked to promote & conduct the programme (LEAN) for our members.

HOW DOES IT WORK?
