INTRODUCTION

The Corporate Liability Provisions under Section 17A of the Malaysian Anti-Corruption Commission (Amendment) Act 2009 came into effect on June 1, 2020. This law makes a company legally responsible if any employee, agent, or business partner is involved in bribery for the company's benefit. It is like bribery laws in the UK and the US. If an offence happens, directors and senior management are also presumed to be responsible unless they can prove that the company had proper anti-corruption controls in place. The penalties are severe and may include a fine of up to ten times the value of the bribe or RM1 million, whichever is higher, and/or imprisonment of up to 20 years.

OBJECTIVE

1. To understand the key offence-related provisions under the MACC Act 2009 directly from MACC Selangor Officers.
2. To learn the purpose and importance of the MACC (Amendment) Act 2018 Section 17A Corporate Liability.
3. To gain familiarity with the main requirements, responsibilities, and implications for commercial organisations, directors, senior management, and employees.
4. To understand the defence measures and adequate procedures needed to demonstrate that the organisation has taken reasonable steps to prevent bribery and corruption.
